

THE MEMPHIS DAILY APPEAL.

MEMPHIS, SATURDAY, JANUARY 21, 1860.

VOLUME XI.—NUMBER 17.

BY McLANAHAN, TROUSDALE & DILL.

Daily Appeal

GOV. BLACK'S MESSAGE.

To the General Assembly:

"I have the honor to lay before you an Act to prohibit Slavery," signed and with my objections.

This is necessarily involved in the whole subject of the proposed bill, and I do not intend to go into it.

It already exists here in law, in fact, as it is in the United States.

It is now proposed unconstitutional.

But I do not stop to consider the rights of negroes, which may be used, indefinitely.

This bill, however, is intended to interfere directly, if needful, with the Constitution of Tennessee.

I therefore, in this bill, intended to value the rights of negroes, which may be used, indefinitely.

For the purpose of meeting the question with distinction, I will divide the negroes into two classes, French and English.

The English negroes were part of Louis and of the Carolinas, and slaves were present.

The third article of the United States, as adopted by the Confederate States, and admitted to all the rights of citizenship of the United States, is to strike a mortal blow at the right of property, respects which they possess.

As it has been decided to make another

concession to the negroes, a state,

as a part of the English purchase, was acquired.

There are now more than 2,000,000

negroes in the United States.

In the time that shall be required,

the negroes will be slaves.

I am constrained to say that the territorial legislature, in

the name of the people, will be subjected to the Constitution of the United States.

At the organization of Kansas and Nebraska, the Missouri restriction was shorted, and the slaves were removed.

The third article of the United States, as adopted by the

Confederate States, is to strike a mortal

blow at the right of property, respects

which they possess.

As it has been decided to make another

concession to the negroes, a state,

as a part of the English purchase, was acquired.

There are now more than 2,000,000

negroes in the United States.

In the time that shall be required,

the negroes will be slaves.

I am constrained to say that the

territorial legislature, in

the name of the people, will be

subjected to the Constitution of the

United States.

At the organization of Kansas and Nebraska, the Missouri restriction was

shorted, and the slaves were

removed.

The third article of the United States, as adopted by the

Confederate States, is to strike a mortal

blow at the right of property, respects

which they possess.

As it has been decided to make another

concession to the negroes, a state,

as a part of the English purchase, was acquired.

There are now more than 2,000,000

negroes in the United States.

In the time that shall be required,

the negroes will be slaves.

I am constrained to say that the

territorial legislature, in

the name of the people, will be

subjected to the Constitution of the

United States.

At the organization of Kansas and Nebraska, the Missouri restriction was

shorted, and the slaves were

removed.

The third article of the United States, as adopted by the

Confederate States, is to strike a mortal

blow at the right of property, respects

which they possess.

As it has been decided to make another

concession to the negroes, a state,

as a part of the English purchase, was acquired.

There are now more than 2,000,000

negroes in the United States.

In the time that shall be required,

the negroes will be slaves.

I am constrained to say that the

territorial legislature, in

the name of the people, will be

subjected to the Constitution of the

United States.

At the organization of Kansas and Nebraska, the Missouri restriction was

shorted, and the slaves were

removed.

The third article of the United States, as adopted by the

Confederate States, is to strike a mortal

blow at the right of property, respects

which they possess.

As it has been decided to make another

concession to the negroes, a state,

as a part of the English purchase, was acquired.

There are now more than 2,000,000

negroes in the United States.

In the time that shall be required,

the negroes will be slaves.

I am constrained to say that the

territorial legislature, in

the name of the people, will be

subjected to the Constitution of the

United States.

At the organization of Kansas and Nebraska, the Missouri restriction was

shorted, and the slaves were

removed.

The third article of the United States, as adopted by the

Confederate States, is to strike a mortal

blow at the right of property, respects

which they possess.

As it has been decided to make another

concession to the negroes, a state,

as a part of the English purchase, was acquired.

There are now more than 2,000,000

negroes in the United States.

In the time that shall be required,

the negroes will be slaves.

I am constrained to say that the

territorial legislature, in

the name of the people, will be

subjected to the Constitution of the

United States.

At the organization of Kansas and Nebraska, the Missouri restriction was

shorted, and the slaves were

removed.

The third article of the United States, as adopted by the

Confederate States, is to strike a mortal

blow at the right of property, respects

which they possess.

As it has been decided to make another

concession to the negroes, a state,

as a part of the English purchase, was acquired.

There are now more than 2,000,000

negroes in the United States.

In the time that shall be required,

the negroes will be slaves.

I am constrained to say that the

territorial legislature, in

the name of the people, will be

subjected to the Constitution of the

United States.

At the organization of Kansas and Nebraska, the Missouri restriction was

shorted, and the slaves were

removed.

The third article of the United States, as adopted by the

Confederate States, is to strike a mortal

blow at the right of property, respects

which they possess.

As it has been decided to make another

concession to the negroes, a state,

as a part of the English purchase, was acquired.

There are now more than 2,000,000

negroes in the United States.

In the time that shall be required,

the negroes will be slaves.

I am constrained to say that the

territorial legislature, in

the name of the people, will be